SEPTEMBER 2024 QUARTERLY TAX INSTALLMENT

Corporation Tax

Companies are required to make quarterly tax instalments on account of its 2024 year of income tax liability. This is based on the prior year's chargeable income and is computed as follows: -

Prior year's chargeable income X tax rate (30% / 35%)

Where the Company estimates that its chargeable profits for the current year that is income year 2024 will be lower than the prior income year, that is 2023. An application can be made to the Board of Inland Revenue (BIR) for a reduction in the quarterly tax instalments due for income year 2024. We would be pleased to assist you with this computation and application to the BIR. In so doing you will avoid being in a tax refund position.

Conversely, where the Company estimates that its chargeable profits for the current year 2023 will exceed the prior year, you are required to pay quarterly instalments based on the prior year plus 80% of the increase which is due by December 31, 2024.

The BIR will levy interest at 20% per annum on any short payments or non-payment of quarterly tax instalments.

Business Levy

Where the business levy liability for the quarter is greater than the quarterly tax instalment, the business levy liability will be payable.

Business levy is computed at 0.6% of gross taxable sales/receipts for each quarter. Estimates can be made if the Company is unable to determine its gross sales for any day in the quarter, so however the business levy paid must not be less than 90% of the liability for the quarter. Any shortfall must be accounted for in the subsequent quarter.

Interest will be assessed for any short-payments or no-payment of quarterly business levy at 20% per annum.
